

Today I am going to take up the subject of smells, none of them sweet. Constant association with anything seems to make one immune to all its objectionable features.

Take for instance a garbage wagon. The drivers get so accustomed to this aroma that it is no longer offensive. Some of you who come from the Eastern states have on occasion smelled the codfish drying yards. Others from the village of Chicago have had the olfactory sensation of a whiff of stockyard perfume.

However, those engaged in making a living in the vicinity of these obnoxious odors are so used to them that—to use the term of a southern friend of mine—"pay it no mind."

Now, all these aromas, no matter how repulsive to one unused to them, are physical, or shall I say material. They do you no particular harm. The ones I intend to bear down on are of a different stripe. They are the smells that offend our spiritual or moral sense. And we have been getting such a dose of them that, like the stockyard hand, we seem to be getting immune to these degrading gases.

Let me illustrate. Pick up your daily paper. Four-inch headlines on front page. "Minister Slays Wife!" "Young Housewife Criminally Attacked!" Or else the doings of some so-called famous movie actress and her torrid romance with a rotund maharajah, whose excuse for living is a matter of wonderment.

For weeks the doings of this Slinka Haypoof, versus the Rajah fill the front page of the press, and various weekly pictorials. While each one waits for his or her divorce to be final, they tour Europe together.

Just explain to me why the average decent American, male or female, should be afflicted with a stench such as this, or what sort of society puts up with characters guilty of such moral turpitude? Willy nilly, the press shoves this down your throat.

Take this headline about some minister killing his wife. Nothing is said about the some quarter million ministers who are doing their job. No, the implication is that the ministry as a whole is not what it should be.

Then we have the headline of young housewife attacked. On reading the matter through, we find she is cheating on her husband who is in the Navy, away somewhere. Why inflict this mess on the public?

Again we have another headline about some young matron attacked in a car by a couple of gobs, after she left with them at 2 a.m., when the tavern closed. Again, why give these tramps publicity?

Day by day, the daily press inflicts this garbage upon us. What do you think this stench does to a young, uninformed mind? How much help is this to the thousands and thousands of decent fathers and mothers who are trying to raise good citizens? The wonder to me is not how much crime we have, but how little there is, in view of what the press, radios and movies do in the way of giving off glue factory odors, repugnant to our moral sense.

Meanwhile, the makers of movie scandal capitalize on the free advertising given to Slinka Haypoof and her Hindoo, or on the jail sentence served by a bobby soxer idol, who got caught smoking marihuana.

The only daily I know that does not peddle such garbage or accept bosom-displaying ads, is the Christian Science Monitor. It reports impartially on foreign and domestic affairs and is rated tops in journalism.

Don't tell me the American people want this filth. I know better and the only way it will be stopped is through such organizations as the PTA, Women's Clubs and service clubs, such as Kiwanis, Optimists, Rotary and Lions. They are all aware of this and are working on the matter. But not every American man or woman is a member of these organizations. So join, and help abate this sewerage while we can still smell.

RED CROSS DRIVE

LAKESIDE HAS NEWEST CLUB IN KIWANIS FOLD

With visiting Kiwanians present from 13 other clubs in Division 11 of Kiwanis International, Lakeside, the district's newest club, was given its charter at a presentation dinner last Saturday.

The charter was presented by District Governor H. Park Arnold and was accepted by Elmer M. Walker, president of the Lakeside club.

La Mesa Kiwanians and their wives attended the dinner to the number of 41; 14 were present from East San Diego and nine from El Cajon; 66 were present from Lakeside—the total being 169.

Russell S. Stowell, Lt.-Gov. of the 11th District, was presiding officer and toastmaster.

Before presenting the charter, Mr. Arnold said he had just attended a youth conference in Los Angeles, where national and international problems were discussed.

WHAT KIND OF WORLD?

"What kind of a world are we going to hand over to the generation who will soon be taking over?" he asked. "What are we doing with our world economically, morally, in entertainment and religion?"

"Are we taking our children to church instead of sending them?"

"What are we doing to the home life of our nation, where one marriage out of three is ending in the divorce court?"

"These," he said, "are some of the questions young people are asking today."

"Tonight the members of the Lakeside club are affiliating with 200,000 other men in clubs in the United States and Canada, who are striving to make those communities better places to live in."

Then addressing Mr. Walker, the presentation speaker said: "As leader of this club, you have a great field of service and your opportunities are legion."

Replying, Mr. Walker said the Lakeside club was dedicated to the cooperative job of building in this community and nation.

LANDSCAPING PROJECT

"We have a program keyed to those objectives," he said. "One project we have undertaken this year is to landscape the new school grounds. It is fitting and proper that the club has adopted this project and will get it under way the opening of Public Schools Week."

Other short talks were made by John B. Gibson, president of the La Mesa Kiwanis Club, sponsoring club; Von N. Marshall, past Lt.-Gov.; A. C. Metcalfe, secretary Lakeside Club; and Frank Harmon of the La Jolla Club.

The latter presented an achievement ribbon to Mr. Gibson to be attached to the La Mesa Kiwanis banner.

AWARD FOR LA MESA CLUB

La Mesa presented a table bell to the Lakeside club, to be used at its meetings. "This bell," said Mr. Gibson, "is a symbol of freedom. Wherever it rings, we do not have to worry about 'isms.'"

A banner and an American and Canadian flag were presented to the club by the 18th District. The gifts were accepted by Secretary Metcalfe.

Entertainment consisted of numbers by the Moonlighters quartet and a duet by the Metcalfe Brothers. Mrs. A. C. Metcalfe played for group singing.

Poll Unfavorable to Memorial District

Winter Gardens residents are opposed to the proposed Lakeside Memorial District, according to returns coming in from a canvass being made to test reaction of members of the Winter Gardens Improvement Association toward the district.

An official of the Association said this week that 200 ballots had been mailed out and of the 98 returned this week, 93 were opposed to joining the district and only 5 in favor.

PETITION FOR DISTRICT TO BE CONSIDERED MONDAY

The request for a special election to create a War Memorial District, will again be considered by the Board of Supervisors next Monday, it was stated this week.

The petition has cleared the office of the Registrar of Voters, the Assessor's Office and the Commission of District Boundaries.

Al L. Johnson, president of the Association, asks members to note a change in the date of the next meeting. Originally scheduled for May 6, the meeting has been postponed until May 13 in order to avoid conflict with the Days of 49 Barbecue, Friday, May 6.

Bob Carille came home over Saturday and Sunday to spend his birthday with home folks.

El Cajon To Have County Health Clinic

The San Diego County Board of Supervisors have approved plans for a medical clinic in El Cajon, according to information received by the Star this week.

The new clinic will relieve patients in this area of the trip to the County Hospital in San Diego.

Eight El Cajon physicians have volunteered their services. Two druggists have offered to store, without charge, the medical supplies needed for clinical work.

Dr. Alex Lessem of the Public Health Department, will furnish the clinic with a full-time nurse and office clerk from his office.

Two days a week the clinic will administer preventive medicine, i. e., chest X-rays, cardiographs, immunizations and vaccinations.

On other days, it is announced, the volunteer doctors will treat all patients in this area who are eligible for county medical aid. It is estimated that 1800 people will take advantage of the services offered at this clinic.

Mrs. Mildred E. Gilliland of El Cajon, who is serving as secretary for the organization of the clinic, was at one time librarian in Lakeside and assisted in securing the present library building.

She reports that 23 organizations in El Cajon petitioned the Supervisors for the establishment of the clinic.

It is planned to open it within a few weeks in a room of the El Cajon Library building, as soon as necessary equipment can be moved in.

It is hoped that $18,000 can be secured from the State Medical Aid fund later to establish a larger headquarters.

There are two other similar clinics in San Diego County—one in Oceanside and the other in National City.

A TRIBUTE

In every community throughout our land we have men who, through their unselfish and unsparing efforts to make ours a better land to live in and guidance they give our youth toward balanced citizenship, attain the stature of giants.

When such men leave for the other side, they leave a yawning gap that time, which heals all wounds, alone can fill.

The departure of E. H. Carender leaves such a void in our community. There is not an activity, or scarcely a home in the entire neighborhood that has not felt his uplifting and helpful presence. He was always willing to lend a hand on any community project, and his counsel was also valued.

May we all hope and strive to be as well prepared to take our leave as was E. H. One could tell by his kindly demeanor that he was at peace with his Maker. Those of us, who over the years have arrived at a satisfactory philosophy of Creation, can truly say, "There is no death—only a short parting." Until then, E. H., au revoir.—N. L.

Optimist Club Builds Kitchen to Scout Hut

The Optimist Club of Lakeside has an addition to the Scout Hut well under way. In two days last week-end the concrete slab was poured, necessary ditches dug, the building was framed up and the roof sheeted. Water was also piped to the new section.

The Club expects to make use of the kitchen tonight (Thursday) for its meeting.

The Scout Hut is the new meeting place of the Optimists and the first meeting there last week was a success socially and financially. The wives of some of the members, namely, Mmes. MacGillivray, Turentine, Ankrum and H. M. Miller, cooked a very delicious meal consisting of baked ham, candied sweet potatoes, salad, a relish dish, and pie and coffee.

This cost each member $1.25, which paid for the food and put 65 cents per member into the boys' work fund, which was the main object in changing meeting places, a member of the Club said this week.

The boys work started with the procurement of equipment for the gymnasium which is being set up in the rear of the building occupied by Hamlet's Market.

LAST WEEK'S MEETING

At a meeting of the Optimists Club April 14 at the Lakeside Hotel, the program was put on by the San Diego Toastmasters Club, with John Wolfe, master of ceremonies. Wives of the Optimists were guests.

Art Burnham spoke on the Boys Club of San Diego and brought as guest a deaf mute who is learning to talk at the Alice Birney School.

Mr. Spangler spoke on "Do You Want to Go Into Business?" Al McMurray's talk on "How to Speak With Gestures," was amusing.

George Ray spoke on "Democracy Works Here." Harold Raines acted as speech critic.

Ten Optimists were called on to debate extemporaneously on the topic "Mothers of the Past Generation Were Superior to the Present Day Mothers."

The membership committee showed up with a small pig. Names were drawn and Chuck Kushera became the porker's first custodian. He must take care of it until he gets a new member for the Club, at which time another drawing will be held.

Dancing for the evening was enjoyed by all, to music furnished by Carl Brown.

MANY ATTEND DEDICATION OF NEW SCHOOL

A large gathering of parents and friends of Lakeside's new Lindo Park School, witnessed its dedication Monday.

The program was arranged by Elmer M. Walker, assisted by a committee from the Lakeside PTA, composed of Mmes. Reva Edwards, Bessie Foster, Frances May, Clara Foster, Peggy Fuller, Betty Linley and Maizie McLean.

The Lakeside school band, safety patrol and chorus took part in the opening ceremonies.

Rev. Willard F. Knox gave the invocation and the benediction was by Rev. Louis E. Del Vecchio.

Superintendent Walker introduced Mrs. Ruby Nelson, principal of the new school, who gave a brief talk before introducing the other speakers.

Mrs. Nelson asked the cooperation of all parents to make the Lindo Park school second to none. "We are depending on you," she said, and extended a cordial invitation to all to visit the new school this week during Public Schools Week.

(The school will not be open, Friday, however, as that is the day of the El Monte Park May Day picnic.)

Mrs. Aaron Larson, president of the Lakeside PTA, told how parents were cooperating with teachers in "trying to build vital world citizens. We know," he said, "that the most expensive thing in the life of an individual or nation, is ignorance."

She urged parents to see that their children start the day with a balanced breakfast, "as it has been found that the learning ability of the child is increased from 15% to 50% when he has had a balanced breakfast."

WEEKS OF PLANNING

J. Hart Dunham, speaking for the Board of Trustees, told the story of how construction of the school got under way after weeks of planning and negotiation by local, county and state school officials.

Following the dedication, a five-ft. Deodora tree was planted by the Agricultural Committee of the Lakeside Kiwanis Club, in the center of a circular driveway, west of the school buildings.

Seated near the speaker's stand were Milton Parfet, representing the Lakeside Farm Bureau; Eddie Marcus, Lakeside Optimist Club; Frank Canler, Chamber of Commerce; members of the Board of Trustees: Messrs. Wilkinson, Linley, Dunham, Foster, McClain; teachers of the new school: Miss Martha Hinson, Mrs. Helen Kriel, Mrs. Claire Westrick, Mrs. Grace Boyer, Mrs. Ruby Nelson; Mrs. Dessie LaCourse; also Manley Rowe, school custodian.

Decorations for the speaker's stand were furnished by the Lakeside Nursery.

In the entrance to the new school were numerous congratulatory bouquets of flowers from Lakeside business firms, civic organizations and individuals.

Color Is Important In Today's Schoolroom

The throng of people who visited the new Lindo Park School on Monday—dedication day—agreed that the statement "one of the best in the Southland"—was not an overstatement.

Commented on most was the excellence of the site; the architectural design—simple, yet graceful; the pleasing color combinations in interior decoration, and the seating arrangements.

"Some different from the days when I went to school," was the remark of more than one visitor.

Desks in all the classrooms are of natural-grained hardwood, have a wide working top, and are movable. They seat two.

All floors are laid with asphalt tile, in harmonizing colors. Walls of the classrooms are tinted in pastel shades, and in the kindergarten room, the Venetian blinds are tinted in a pastel green.

The eye-resting color of green predominates in the color scheme.

The crayon boards on the walls are no longer black. They are colored green and take the crayon as well as the old-fashioned "blackboards."

The kindergarten room—largest one in the building, attracted the most attention. It is a complete workshop and playland, complete in itself, even to its twin restrooms, with their miniature fixtures for the little tots.

Master plan of the school calls for expanding the present plant into one with two kindergartens, 12 classrooms, a cafeteria and an auditorium.

☆ Friendly Calls In Lakeside ☆

By MINERVA T. BAKER
LOS COCHES ROAD

We read in the Sacred Book that "the earth shall wax old as doth a garment," then, of course, as a natural sequence, the ground fails to produce the necessities of life without fertilizing and cultivating to restore it to its former state. The task of bringing a depleted earth back to its natural productivity is expensive for man, as it requires many machines and much labor.

By means of "condensed gardening" and using chemicals, man has found a way to bring the production of large acreage into a small plot and produce enormous crops without using a speck of dirt from Mother Earth.

The growing of vegetables by means of chemicals is not new. It was experimented with as far back as 1865. On Los Coches rd., less than a mile from Lakeside, is the chemical garden of A. H. Kopke and son, Roy Kopke — called the "Laura K. Gardens."

(These gardens were described in an article in a recent Star.) The 1000 tomato plants, it is estimated, will produce a ton of tomatoes each day, lasting from three to five years. Mr. Kopke says under the same process, potatoes have yielded up to 2600 bushels to the acre.

Mr. and Mrs. Kopke, Sr., came here from East San Diego and bought two acres from the McClain Brothers. Mr. and Mrs. Ross Kopke came from Oregon about a year ago. They have two children—Rae, 7 and Bert, 3.

Twenty-seven years ago Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Gimble went from Monterey to San Diego, and from there they moved to Eucalyptus Hills, Lakeside. In 1942 they went to Washington, D. C., where he entered the Naval Research Laboratory as Radar Instructor; also lecturer coordinator in the Elementary Engineering Laboratory. Upon Mr. Gimble's retirement from the Navy, they returned to Lakeside and bought six acres on Los Coches rd., the former Gates place.

Later, Mr. Gimble became research analyst at Ryan Aircraft in San Diego. They have two children. Ted is in the Eighth Grade of the Lakeside grammar school and Priscilla is in the Sixth grade. Mr. Gimble has pasture and keeps two cows. A 4-H Club calf belongs to Ted and Priscilla has New Hampshire Red chickens.

Mrs. Ida Gate Smith came from the Imperial Valley 15 years ago. Mrs. Smith has six boys and one girl. Clyde Gates has a dairy near Glenview. Carroll lives in Lakeside. Forrest lost his life in the first World War. William lives in Oregon and Bruce in La Mesa. Margaret married Dr. Pierson and Lee is with his son at Alpine. (Since this was written Mrs. Gate-Smith has moved to a new home in El Cajon.)

County-wide Move To Clean-up, Paint-up

In deciding to again sponsor a "clean-up, paint-up" campaign again this year, the Lakeside chamber of commerce is keeping step with other communities in a program to make San Diego County more attractive.

Speaking for San Diego, Stanley Grove, chamber general manager said this week: "We have beauty and climate to sell here. Let's make the most of it by doing everything in our power to keep it available as a major tourist attraction in San Diego County."

Chula Vista, through its chamber of Commerce, is now working on its fourth annual clean-up, with the aid of school children who are given prizes for the best efforts. Past campaigns have been a success. In one nearby community, it is reported appraisers who had turned down home loans before the clean-up granted them afterwards.

San Diego's fire department is working on conditions where canyons are littered with refuse and constitute a fire hazard.

Life for the seamstress is just one darned thing after another.

What to do? I saw two automobiles firmly locked together in the street. The front bumper of one car had run into the higher rear bumper of the other car and the two machines were clinched and neither one seemed inclined to let go. A fat man with a bald head was jumping up and down on the bumper of one machine and a dozen bystanders were heaving and hauling and a couple dozen more were giving advice.

"That wouldn't have happened if either of those cars had bumper guards," said a man who had stopped his car to look on. "I've got 'em on my car, you betcha!"

I asked him what a bumper guard was. He explained that it is a bar of metal eight or ten inches long, fixed cross-wise on the bumper and that they (bumper guards go in pairs) would prevent a higher or lower bumper on another car from going up or below the bumper they protected.

"Like mine," said the man. I examined his bumper guards. Then I went right down to the shop and bought bumper guards for the family hack. And as I drove along the street coming home, I saw two more autos in a death clinch, their bumpers firmly interlocked. A man was jumping up and down on the bumpers; a dozen people were tugging and pulling and a dozen more giving advice.

I drove up alongside and poked my head out the window and said: "That wouldn't have happened if either of those autos had bumper guards. I've got 'em on my car, you betcha!" "Oh, the devil you have!" screamed back the guy as he stopped jumping up and down. "If you'll take a look, you'll see that one of these cars has bumper guards on, too! The darn things are hooked up under the other bumper like a couple of fishhooks! Just makes it harder to get 'em apart—that's all!"

"Resurrection Belief Beyond Immortality"

(Lack of space last week prevented publication of excerpts from the Easter sermon of the Rev. T. E. Roberts—Ed.)

"The Christian belief in the resurrection goes beyond belief in the immortality of the soul," Rev. T. E. Roberts declared in the pulpit of the Lakeside Community Church Easter morning. He delivered a sermon at each of the twin morning services.

"Most of us ordinary humans know that the soul, the personality, the spirit, the real part of a person—whatever you choose to call it—cannot be destroyed. It has no concrete existence in the first place," he said, "so how can you destroy it?"

"You can burn down the house in which a family lives, but you can't destroy their home, for it is the spirit of the family. This can be wounded and crippled, but it cannot be destroyed."

"To me it seems not too illogical to go a step further in our thinking and reason that when something which does have concrete, physical existence is burned, or otherwise destroyed, it does not disappear and cease to exist. It merely changes form. When, for instance, something is consumed by fire, the process of oxidation releases so much of it into the atmosphere in gaseous form, and leaves so much in the form of ash, but nothing is actually destroyed."

"Now, if something burned should be restored to its original form by capturing the gases out of the atmosphere and putting them back together with the ash, that would most surely be a miracle, and pure reasoning would probably stop you at that point."

"But the Christian Church has been built on a miracle. The church has accepted the authenticity of the narrative concerning the life and teachings of Jesus, and because it believes in the Jesus of History, it has had no serious trouble in believing in the resurrected Jesus. And believing in the resurrected Jesus, the church has also accepted His teaching that the bodies and spirits of his followers will also be put together again."

"However, it does not follow that the resurrected body will be exactly the same as what we now have. It is safer, I think, to say that as we are in this life equipped for the needs of this life, so in the next life we will also be suitably equipped for the needs of that life."

NICE DAY, ISN'T IT?

By E. H. CARENDER

That's a greeting that is in order about 350 days of the year in Southern California. Most people use it. To open a conversation, it gets you started right.

If you can keep up the same spirit of optimism as your discussion continues, you and your friends will be happier; and happiness is the genuine vitamin of life.

Don't look for flaws, unless you have some cement along to mend them. If you're just talking—try to make it helpful.

We've just completed a Red Cross drive — a drive for ready cash in case of emergencies. Lakeside's quota was $1,100. We raised a little more than half of it. Due to circumstances beyond our control, we didn't have enough workers to cover the field. But the Farm Bureau Home Department came to our rescue. They did a marvelous job in the limited time they had and with the limited number of workers. The last contributor (we'd give her name, but we think she would rather have it omitted) was one who had been several miles to arrange for and place her payment. She was our heaviest contributor. When we became voluminous in our thanks, she said: "Don't thank a Red Cross contributor. We should thank those who take care of this work for us."

It's a nice day, isn't it? A business man drove several hundred miles to commend our little community at a service

Surge of Children To Sweep Upon Schools

This general geographic area is at the beginning of one of the most rapid population growths in the State, in the opinion of Dr. John S. Carroll, superintendent of schools of San Diego County.

He was referring to the upper San Diego River Valley. The Lakeside district was given State aid, he said, not only because of the present need, but in view of the potential requirements for elementary schools.

"Your schools have only begun to grow," he said and called attention to the fact that there are at the present time more children of pre-school age than there are pupils attending our schools, through all the grades and junior college.

Mr. Carroll spoke at the dedication of the new Lindo Park school. He traced the development of public education in Lakeside from its beginning in 1890 when the first school district was formed. There were ten pupils then; now the total has swelled to 632, with 22 teachers.

club charter meeting, and to tell us what an opportunity we have for (not for making money) but—Service! He placed the highest values upon churches and boys' and girls' clubs, and schools, and acts of helpfulness.

Superintendent Walker was in his glory at the opening of the new Lindo Park School. He gave credit where credit was due—to the school trustees, the Parent-Teachers Association, the service clubs, the Farm Bureau, the Chamber of Commerce, the Optimists, the Kiwanis, and many individuals who had served faithfully in one capacity or another. It is for us, as citizens, to complete the list of honorable mentions by saying that a very high percentage of the credit for this beautiful and practical school plan goes to the untiring efforts and the forward looking intelligence of Elmer M. Walker.

It's a nice day in Southern California, if the sun is shining. It's even nicer if it's raining!

Thank to Mrs. C. O. Langlois for two recipes we know will meet approval:

Home Demonstration Achievement Day

"Women who want to learn how to make more space in kitchen cupboards, refinish furniture or pack adequate lunches should attend one of the county-wide Home Demonstration Achievement days—May 6 at 1 p.m., in the El Cajon Friendship Center or May 25 at 10:30 a.m. in the Escondido Women's Clubhouse, Escondido," announces Mrs. Delphine D. Wilson, San Diego County Home Demonstration Agent, AES, U. of C.

The county-wide achievement days are one part of the celebration of National Home Demonstration Week — May 2 through May 7.

Mrs. Ivan Pocklington, chairman of the La Mesa group, will be chairman of the day at the El Cajon Achievement meeting. Mrs. Elton Butzin of La Mesa will be in charge of the beginning sewing fashion show.

Members of the committee planning the achievement day are: Mrs. Eulalia Arbuckle, La Mesa; Mrs. Joseph Sanchez and Mrs. Alfred Filler of Lemon Grove; Mrs. W. J. Center of El Cajon, and Mrs. D. B. Ruse of Spring Valley.

Christian Science Topic 'Probation after Death'

"The Lord will perfect that which concerneth me: thy mercy, O Lord, endureth for ever." This quotation from the Psalms will be the Golden Text of the Sunday Lesson-Sermon on "Probation after Death" in all branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston.

In his letter to the Philipians Paul writes, "And this I pray, that your love may abound yet more and more in knowledge and in all judgment; That ye may approve things that are excellent; ... Being filled with the fruits of righteousness, which are by Jesus Christ, unto the glory and praise of God. ... Brethren, I count not myself to have apprehended: but this one thing I do, forgetting those things which are behind, and reaching forth unto those things which are before, I press toward the mark for the prize of the high calling of God in Christ Jesus."

Mary Baker Eddy writes in "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures": "Every day makes its demands upon us for higher proofs rather than professions of Christian power." "When we learn that error is not real, we shall be ready for progress, 'forgetting those things which are behind.'"

Start Work on Footpath Along Lindo Lake

Work on building a footpath along Lindo Lake to the new Lindo Park School got under way this week as the Lakeside School District agreed to foot the cost—$450.

Although the path is a permanent improvement to the park, the Park Commission said it had no funds available for the work. The footpath is essential to keep children from walking to school on the highway, which is narrow and has steep shoulders most of the way.

New members of the Lakeside center, Farm Bureau, are Robert Griffiths, Charles Q. Eshnaur, R. L. Ellis and Howard Hamilton.

Neighborhood Grain And Forage Meetings

Cereal variety and fertilizer tests, dry land grasses and alfalfa plantings will be visited in the following series of meetings being held by F. W. Dorman and Bernard J. Hall, assistant farm advisors:

May 3—9:30 a.m.—Dr. C. L. and Hugh Good Ranch, Santee — Cereal and Legume Pasture Plots.

May 3—10:30 a.m.—Edgemoor Farm, Santee — Cereal Winter Clipping Trials.

May 3—2 p.m.—L. H. Saunders, El Cajon—Barley Fertilization.

May 3—3 p.m.—John Scripps Ranch, El Cajon, Pasture Fertilization.

Some of the newer disease-resistant varieties of cereals may be seen.

CITRUS TREES AND MOTTLE-LEAF

Mottle-leaf or zinc deficiency is prevalent in many citrus orchards this year, reports J. J. Coony, Asst. Farm Advisor. Citrus growers should know to recognize the importance of correcting this condition.

Zinc deficiency symptoms are sometimes confused with those of manganese or iron. Zinc deficient leaves will have green around mid-ribs and veins, with the area between the veins appearing yellow. It is important to note that yellowish color. Leaves become narrow, small. The condition is usually worse on the south side of the tree. Acute zinc deficiency causes die-back, sparse foliage, and decreased production, and poor quality.

Response to zinc sprays is greatest if applied just prior to or during a flush of growth. It can be done at any season. Blossoms or young fruit are not damaged. Complete coverage is not essential. A little of the spray on most of the leaves is sufficient.

The recommended formula is 5 lbs. of zinc sulfate, 2½ lbs. hydrated lime or soda ash to 100 gals. of water. No spreaders or stickers are necessary.

KEEP THE HENS COOL

The hen cannot adapt herself to high temperatures. R. H. Adolph, Assistant Farm Advisor of the U. of C. Agricultural Ext. Serv., suggests that poultry producers take steps now to make their hens more comfortable on the hot days ahead. Thus they can save some of the production, and possibly the lives, of some of the birds.

Cooling systems have been installed on many poultry ranches. Overhead sprinklers are placed about every six feet over the roofs of poultry houses. These are used to sprinkle the roof when the temperature rises above 85 or 90 deg. F. Adolph points out that those already having sprinklers should check them for breaks due to freezing temperatures this winter.

A fine mist of water over litter and birds is another method of cooling. The spray must be fine and run about ten minutes at a time.

SECOND BARREL SURVEY TO BE UNDERTAKEN SOON

A survey and subsequent report on the proposed second barrel of the San Diego Aqueduct will be undertaken by the Bureau of Reclamation under terms of an agreement approved by the San Diego County Water Authority.

J. L. Burkholder, general manager and chief engineer of the Water Authority, said it was expected the survey will be started as soon as preliminary details have been worked out, and that the report might be ready by next January.

Under the agreement, the Bureau's share of the survey expense, estimated at $50,000, will be included in the cost of the second barrel. In the event the barrel is not constructed, the Federal Government would not be reimbursed.

Fred A. Heilbron, chairman, said the Water Authority's program of completing the aqueduct through construction of the second barrel has met widespread support, as the project would double the volume of Colorado River water delivered to this area. Moreover, he added, this additional supply could be brought in at less cost and in a shorter time than through development of sources within the county.

DESTRUCTIVE TORNADOES

According to the U. S. Weather Bureau, 195 tornadoes in 1948 caused the death of 141 persons and destroyed $54 millions of property. Georgia had 23 tornadoes and Illinois, 22, followed in order by Oklahoma, Kansas and Texas.

POULTRY PROFITABLE

BAE reported last week-end that U. S. flocks in 1948 provided $3.2 billion income from eggs and meat to producers, including home use. The percentages of income were 66% from eggs, 22% from chickens and 12% from broilers.

Reproductive failures in dairy cattle are probably costing San Diego County dairymen more money than any other one management problem.

Man-sized tunnels in the wings of the Navy's Constitution airplane permit inspection and adjustment of engines, accessories and landing gear while airborne.

Farm Exhibits at Fair Larger This Year

DEL MAR, April 26—Agricultural exhibits at the forthcoming San Diego County Fair, to be held here from June 24 through July 4, will surpass in beauty and vastness displays of former years, it was assured today.

A gigantic light blue tent, measuring 100 x 310 ft. and containing 31,000 sq. ft. of floor space, will house exhibits from San Diego County farms and ranches and from many outside countries.

Already signed for large feature exhibits, according to Superintendent M. E. Salsberry, are Los Angeles, Ventura, San Bernardino, Orange, Imperial Counties and the State Department of Agriculture.

Farm Bureau exhibits have been secured from Lakeside, El Cajon, Escondido and San Luis Rey, as well as Julian and Ramona Granges.

AUTO SHOW This area's first comprehensive passenger automobile show in more than a decade will be one of the highlights of the forthcoming San Diego County Fair, to be held here from June 24 through July 4.

Some 50 spanking new 1949 models will be on display, occupying 15,000 sq. ft. of floor space in the huge Master tent at the fairgrounds.

Visitors will see models of the Buick, Chrysler, Crosley, Ford, Hudson, Willys Jeep, Lincoln, Mercury, Nash, Packard, Plymouth, Pontiac, Studebaker and other makes.

All major lines of farm and industrial equipment will be represented, including Allis-Chalmers, Massey-Harris, Caterpillar, John Deere, International Harvester, Ford Dearborn, Ferguson, Oliver Cletrac and Case.

Centurian (Wis.) Needs Overcoat No Longer

When Dan Fischer, 60, left Centuria, Wis., last February, it had been 20 below zero the previous morning, and for two days before that. Once on the train, he took off his overcoat, scarf and gloves and has not put them on since, for he got off the train in Southern California.

Mr. Fischer has a home on the property of his step-son, C. A. Holmquist, near the Manicacoo Cactus Farm. He likes the climate here and looks forward to warmer days, which he says suit him fine.

Mr. Fischer is looking for gardening or other light work.

JUNE BEETLES ON YOUNG AVOCADOES

Serious damage to young avocado trees occasionally is experienced this time of year caused by June beetles and other leaf-eating beetles. The beetles work at night, and bury themselves in an inch or two of soil during the day. Young orchards near uncultivated land are most likely to be attacked.

It is possible to control them with 5% DDT dust applied to the tree and to the soil beneath the tree.

Congress To Decide On Colo. River Water

LOS ANGELES, April 27 — California's Congressional delegation today was described as the "best in the water history of the state."

The delegation's impressive record on important Colorado River legislation now pending before Congress earned that tribute from James H. Howard, general counsel of the Metropolitan Water District, which includes 28 key Southern California cities with a combined population of 5,526,000.

He said the unanimous action of all 23 of the State's representatives, including Rep. Clinton D. McKinnon (D), of San Diego, in sponsoring resolutions calling for Supreme Court settlement of the Arizona-California water dispute, is "unprecedented."

California, he said, finds itself forced to wage a two-front campaign to protect its share of Colorado River water. This share, which is 5,382,000 acre feet, is intended to serve at least 5,000,000 city dwellers and 1,000,000 acres of farm lands.

The state's primary objective, according to Howard, is settlement of the 26-year water dispute with Arizona. This is proposed to be done through the channels of the U. S. Supreme Court. Consent of Congress for that procedure is required, because the Federal government is involved. Arizona opposes Supreme Court action.

Second legislative objective of California is to block the billion dollar Central Arizona irrigation bills that would take away water needed for the homes, industries and farms of Southern California.

Hearings on Colorado River legislation that will decide Southern California's water fate were resumed this week before committees of the Senate and the House following the Easter recess of Congress.

Prefer Sprinkling To Irrigation

There is likely to be much more irrigation by sprinkling in the future than there has been in the past. According to the U. S. DA, farmers tend to prefer sprinkling to the use of flowing streams of water.

SAN DIEGO COUNTY HISTORICAL SCRAPBOOK

Compiled from the historical records of

UNION TITLE INSURANCE AND TRUST COMPANY • SAN DIEGO

The last word in steam transportation of 1890 is typified by the La Jolla Railroad "dinky train" shown above in this photograph from the historical files of Union Title Insurance and Trust Company.

Around 1886, rail service in electric cars was established between downtown San Diego and Old Town. Later, the line was changed to steam power and was extended to Pacific Beach and then to La Jolla as those two communities grew.

Especially remembered by old timers in San Diego County is the "Abalone Special" of the old SDPB&LJRR. This special mid-night train ran just on Saturday night and was always alive with revelers returning from San Diego to their homes in La Jolla, a "dry" town in those days.

The San Diego, Pacific Beach and La Jolla Railroad operated until 1917, when the increased popularity of automobiles made such a short-run railway impractical.

Education on the March

(Lakeside's first school in 1889, had ten pupils, eight of whom were mentioned last week, in the introduction to this story of Lakeside schools. Two other pupils of that early school, since revealed, are Ira and Grover Philbrook.

(The story is continued this week. Other interesting facts have been compiled by Mrs. Florence Beadle, historian of the Lakeside Chamber of Commerce.—Ed.)

By FLORENCE BEADLE

In the year 1939, a part of the Lakeview School District was annexed to the Lakeside Union School District. This portion included Lakeview property north of Highway 80 down to Orange st. Even though the Lakeview district was officially in the El Cajon Union School District, the children had come to Lakeside's school since 1923.

In 1948, with an enrollment of 580, it became necessary to partition the auditorium into four classrooms and to use the music room and Girl Scout Hut also as classrooms. It also became necessary to start double sessions in the kindergarten, first, second and third grades.

OLD LAKESIDE SCHOOLS

FOSTER SCHOOL

The Foster School District was formed in 1879. The school building was originally a homesteader's cabin just outside and north of the boundary line of the El Cajon Rancho grant.

"Uncle" Joseph Foster, county supervisor, for many years owned the ranch that became the town of Foster, terminus of the Cuyamaca-Eastern railroad.

The Foster school district lapsed about 1895, when many of the families moved away. It was re-formed February 10, 1913, for a second existence until about 1925 when the last two pupils were graduated. During this time a new schoolhouse had been built (about 1919 or 1920) on the old site.

Purchase of a large area of land by the City of San Diego for a site for San Vicente Dam, caused all the families to move out of the Valley. The schoolhouse was bought by Harold Laws and moved to his lot on Orange st. in Lakeside. Waters of San Vicente lake now cover the old school site.

The Foster School district was admitted to the Lakeside Union School District February 20, 1928. The Vicente School District was formed October 15, 1888. It lapsed July 3, 1895.

EL CAPITAN SCHOOL DISTRICT
El Capitan School District (Blossom Valley) was formed in 1888, with Emma Field as the first teacher. The school closed June 3, 1920, when joined to the El Cajon Valley School District.

The old school building, located on Highway 80 in Blossom Valley, still stands. Many Lakeside pioneer residents attended this school and still regard it, in spirit, part of the Lakeside Union School District.

BARONA SCHOOL

The Barona School District was formed March 10, 1892 and existed for ten years before lapsing December 2, 1902. It is now the Barona Indian Reservation. (The Barona Indians were formerly called the El Capitan Indians. They were moved out when their reservation became the El Capitan Dam site.)

LAKESIDE

The Lakeview School was built in 1894. It had one large classroom, a library and cloak room.

$150,000 for Expansion At Edgemoor Farm

The faculty of the Santee Grammar School was host to parents and friends of its pupils last Wednesday evening. The children's work was on display and the teachers were in all classrooms to answer any questions. A social hour followed, in the cafeteria, with coffee and doughnuts.

On Tuesday, May 10, the Executive Board of the Santee Parent-Teacher Association is planning to take the membership on a "Tour of Australia." The new officers will be presented for installation as a special feature of the day, and reports will be given by those attending the convention.

Mrs. Hattie Love and her sister, Miss Phoebe Welton, who has spent the winter in Santee, left Tuesday for Miss Welton's home in Ashland, Neb. Mrs. Love plans to visit with friends and relatives there and return to her home here in July.

Mrs. Bowers is back at her desk at Edgemoor. She has been ill for about two months.

Mr. and Mrs. John Vannetti, who were married recently, were honored at a party given for them by Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Armor, Thursday evening. They were presented with a gift from their fellow employees.

Joe Franken and Noel Tweed of La Mesa went to Ensenada on a fishing trip Wednesday.

Mrs. Bernard Boyd was hostess at a lunch on Thursday. Guests were members of the WSCS.

Last week a group of Santee girls went roller skating at the Palisades Gardens in San Diego. With the exception of a few falls, Sandra de Haven, Donna Swanson, Elaine and Eileen Buckel had a "grand time."

Thursday afternoon the Senior Scouts of Grossmont played hostess to the Eighth Graders of Troop 191. Attending with Mrs. Kirkseter were Norma Kirkseter, Eunice Bates, Nancy Milligan, Gail Hiser and Carrie Lue Harritt.

Tomorrow, the Intermediate MYF is planning a picnic lunch and attendance at the Padre-San Francisco baseball game at Lane field.

Two Santee women played in the Volley Tennis tournament in North Park last week: Mmes. John McSwain and J. B. Perkins.

—Valley Orthodox Church—
Dr. James B. Brown, former home missionary of the Orthodox Presbyterian Church for this area, has been assigned by the Presbytery which met last Wednesday and Thursday in Long Beach, to fill the pulpit at Santee. Dr. and Mrs. Brown have been living in National City but will move to Santee as soon as they are able to find a house for rent.

—Community Methodist—
Next Sunday, Childhood Day will be observed in the Santee Community Methodist Church. All parents are invited to the program in which all Beginners, Primary and Junior children will take part. Sunday School will begin at the usual time—10 o'clock—but the program will be at 10:30 in the sanctuary as part of the regular morning service. In the evening, Reverend Huckaby's sermon topic will be "Freedom."

Last Saturday, an energetic group of men built the forms for the foundation of the new recreational building. Saturday they will set the steel and prepare for pouring concrete the following week.

Saturday, May 7, at 11:30, the Sunday School picnic will be held on the parsonage lawn. Fun for all ages!

"Elmer has a little lamb
Its fleece is partly black;
And everywhere that Elmer goes
The lamb walks in his track."

Elmer Macy of Lakeside had heard that lambs make good pets and he believes it now, for he has a 9-weeks old lamb that follows him devotedly wherever he goes.

And if he takes the pick-up for a trip into town, Hector (that's the lamb) jumps up on the seat beside him.

Hector is well-mannered too. He wears a red ribbon tied into a bow around his neck, and when he walks into a store behind his master, he is quiet and well-behaved.

"Talk about a dog's devotion," Mr. Macy says, "I never saw anything like it, the way this lamb follows me around."

Hector is an orphan and was given to Mrs. Macy by her son, Bill. He weighed 20 lbs., and was bottle fed at first, but he is weaned now and weighs almost fifty pounds.
